Headlines from 1994

Here are a few headlines from the Coastal Courier from years ago. A brief explanation of what the story was about is posted here as well but not verbatim as originally printed.

Oct. 9, 1994

Hodges murder cases still pending:

A year and a day after Riceboro grocer Bobby Hodges was shot five times and killed, appeals are holding up the trials of the final two suspects. Shawn Brown, Cedric Brown, Maurice Fleming, Clevon Jenkins and Terry Roberts were all charged with murder and armed robbery after leaving Hodges for dead and taking $700 in cash, checks and food stamps. Shawn and Cedric Brown pled guilty and were sentenced. Roberts was expected to enter a guilty plea, but the trials of Jenkins and Fleming was delayed due to appeals.

Suspect in BI stabbing pleads not guilty:

Bernard Townsend pled not guilty at his arraignment. He was charged with the stabbing death of Bradwell Institute senior George Jenkins. The stabbing occurred on the BI campus after school ended and before a track meet. Townsend was on the campus to watch the track meet. Townsend's attorney, Gene Geary said his client pulled a knife in self-defense. He requested a change of venue to ensure a fair trial.

24th ordered to deploy:

Elements of the 24th Infantry Division are on their way to Kuwait. Some 4,000 troops were ordered to pack up and ship out as tensions in the Persian Gulf mount.

Troops in, headed to Kuwait

The announced 4,000 may not be total deployed.

By Steve Scholar
Staff Writer

Almost 1,400 24th Infantry Division (Mech.) soldiers have left for Kuwait since Sunday, ready to draw a line in the sand against a massive Iraqi military build up just north of the Iraq-Kuwait border that threatens the security of the tiny Persian Gulf nation.

The first 400 24th soldiers, who left Hunter Army Airfield Sunday, arrived in the desert kingdom Monday morning.

The commanding general of the 24th Infantry Division, Maj. Gen. Joseph DeFrancisco, bid farewell to his departing soldiers as they boarded planes and said, "Nobody actually looks for a fight, but we're ready for one."

"If this thing has to happen, this is the best unit to do it."

— Sgt. Greg Bray

The 24th's deployment comes despite an Iraqi statement Tuesday that the soldiers massing near Basra had begun to pull back toward Bagdhad.

Four civilian charter flights carrying about 700 soldiers and two C-5 Galaxys hauling equipment and supplies left Hunter Army Airfield Monday for the 18-hour flight to Kuwait. They are in addition to the almost 400 soldiers that left Sunday.

Stewart officials were unsure how many 24th soldiers would ultimately be deployed, although Secretary of Defense William J. Perry announced Monday that 8,000 of the 24th's soldiers would go to Southwest Asia.

Pentagon officals said Saturday that 4,000 24th soldiers would ultimately be deployed to Kuwait.

Fort Stewart spokesperson Maj. Kelly Fitzpatrick wouldn't confirm that figure, saying only, "All we know are how many people are leaving day-to-day."

"You hear different figures if you talk to different people," DeFrancisco

MIXED EMOTIONS — The emotions prevelant among soldiers waiting for planes at Hunter Army Airfield Monday was evident by these two.

Business jittery about numbers

By Steve Scholar
Staff Writer

Hinesville businesspeople are taking a "wait and see" attitude to the deployment of Fort Stewart soldiers and hoping the numbers of soldiers leaving for Kuwait don't continue to grow.

But even with only 1,400 soldiers already deployed, it's safe to say that many local businesspeople are jittery.

"A significant portion of our business is military and I haven't seen a drop-off in business yet. But when you take a lot of soldiers out of a community, it's got to have an effect," said John Parker, general manager of the Golden Corral restaurant on Highway 84.

"Many of the waitresses at the restaurant are military spouses. One quit today and is going home to her family," Parker said.

The restaurant has put a sign on its marquee that says "God Bless Our Troops," and Parker said the sign will remain up indefinitely.

"I hope it isn't too long," he said.

The Big Apple, an adult entertainment spot often frequented by military people is also feeling the pinch, with up to 60 percent of its clientele being military.

"Business is already down, although it's still to early to tell how much the business will suffer," said Big Apple manager Randy Durrence.

"All we can do is hope for the best. We're hoping it doesn't take to long," Durrence said.

The manager also said that many of the club's female dancers are married to Fort Stewart soldiers and are missing work because they've been taking care of personal business related to their husband's deployment.

"They're really worried," he said.

Local realtor and Hinesville Mayor Allen Brown attended a military briefing for civic leaders yesterday and said

Support kicks in

E-mail offered between soldiers and their families.

By Drue Miller
Staff Writer

As troops are deployed from Fort Stewart their spouses and family members are left to continue living day-to-day with the added fears of what could happen to their loved one as they fight overseas.

"I do have some apprehension because it's a dangerous mission but I am confident and know the soldiers can do it," Kathleen Hicks, a deployed soldier's wife, said.

"I went through it during Desert Storm and did have some apprehension then too," said another wife, Bonnie Russel. "I will worry — I did then. I feel like this is more of a mission oriented trip."

Soldiers are viewing the situation in a different light, but share the worry of leaving family behind.

Capt. Brian Winski said he is confident in the equipment, leaders and soldiers. He is a veteran of previous desert operations.

"We train and prepare for this type of operation daily," he said.

He said the hardest part of the operation is the separation from his wife for six, seven or more months at a time.

Spec. Tracy Thomas said he is competent in training

Partnership with DDS and DNR Creates Efficiency for Georgia Boaters

SPECIAL TO THE PENNYSAVER

Great news for Georgia boaters! A partnership between the state Department of Driver Services (DDS) and the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is making it easier for boaters to show they have the required boater education. A boating indicator – a small anchor -- may be added to the front of a driver's license or ID card to eliminate the need to have a boating safety education card with them when boating.

While all Georgia boaters do not need to complete training, many are required to complete a state-approved education program before operating a boat -- including anyone born on and after January 1, 1998.

The advantage to this program is that you will no longer need to carry your boating safety education card with you when boating, provided you have your driver's license/ID with you.

"Once the boater education completion indicator is placed on your DDS record, it will automatically be printed on your license or ID each time it is renewed. We are excited to partner with DNR on this customer-focused initiative," commented DDS Commissioner Spencer R. Moore.

"As time moves forward, more and more Georgians will be required to complete a boater education course if they want to operate a boat on state waters," said Georgia DNR Commissioner Mark Williams. "To be able to show that you have completed boater ed on your driver's license will eliminate the need to carry a separate card, which is much more convenient."

Those without the boater education completion indicator printed on their driver's license or ID card must continue to carry their proof of completion of the boater education course (if required in Georgia), along with proof of identity. Boat operators can enroll in a certified boater education course either online or through a classroom-based program to receive the necessary certification (www.gadnrle.org/boating-education).

Process

• Those who have completed a DNR-approved classroom course will automatically have their information submitted electronically from DNR after the class completion and placed on their DDS record if they have or in the past have had a Georgia driver's license or identification card. The next time they apply for a driver license or ID card renewal, the boater education completion indicator will be placed on their license or ID card.

• Customers who return to the DDS for the boater education completion indicator before their license renewal may be subject to any issuance or renewal fees.

• Customers who choose to renew online or via the DDS 2 GO app will have the indicator placed on their card if DDS has record of the course completion on file from DNR.

• Those who have completed an online NASBLA-approved boater education course may bring the original NASBLA certificate of completion to a DDS customer service center to have the indicator placed on their license or ID.

• Those who have completed a NASBLA-approved boater education course from another state may bring the original NASBLA certificate to a DDS customer service center to have the indicator placed on their license or ID.

About the Georgia Department of Driver Services (DDS)

The Georgia Department of Driver Services (DDS) is responsible for the issuance of driver's licenses and state identification cards, conducting over 3.7 million annual transactions for the nation's eighth largest state across 67 field offices. Additionally, DDS runs the state's motorcycle safety program (training over 7000 motorcyclists annually), investigates fraud through its internal law enforcement division, answers 1.5 million citizen phone calls, and maintains driving records on all drivers licensed in Georgia and non-residents who are convicted of traffic violations in Georgia courts. We are committed to our mission "To provide secure identity credentials to our customers, with excellence and respect".

The mission of the Department of Natural Resources is to sustain, enhance, protect and conserve Georgia's natural, historic and cultural resources for present and future generations, while recognizing the importance of promoting the development of commerce and industry that utilize sound environmental practices.

Campground and event center prepares to open at Evans Public Fishing Area

SPECIAL TO THE PENNY SAVER

Almost Open for business! Come for the fishing or for a special celebration at the new event center, and then plan to stay a few days at the new RV/tent campground at Evans County Public Fishing Area (PFA) in Claxton, suggests the Georgia Department of Natural Resources' Wildlife Resources Division (WRD).

"We are excited to offer this new opportunity in Evans County, and look forward to seeing folks come camp with us or utilize the new Event Center soon," says Tim Barrett, WRD Regional Fisheries Supervisor.

The campground consists of 22 campsites, all containing electricity, water, a picnic table and a fire ring. Of the 22 sites, there are eight tent-only sites, and 14 full-size RV/tent sites, five of which are premium sites offering full sewer service and pull-through parking pads. The daily cost for reserving these sites is $20 for tent-only, $30 for standard full-size RV/tent sites, and $35 for Premium RV/tent sites. Additionally, there is a community restroom and shower facility available. Make your camping reservation at https://reservations.gooutdoorsgeorgia.com.

The new Event Center can accommodate up to 85 people, and offers a full service kitchen, indoor restrooms, and a pavilion. Rental costs for the center are $275/day. Reservations must be made through https://reservations.gooutdoorsgeorgia.com.

Evans County PFA is a 372-acre area that offers three lakes where anglers can fish for bream, largemouth bass, catfish and crappie. Additionally, this PFA offers opportunities for quota and youth waterfowl hunts, nature trails, picnic sites, and an archery range.

Evans County PFA, like other PFAs in the state, is open seven days a week, and even offers night fishing throughout the year. Anglers fishing the area need a fishing license. Licenses may be purchased online at GoOutdoorsGeorgia.com, at a license vendor or by calling 1-800-366-2661.

General Surgeon Vincent Arlauskas Named a 2019 Komen BigWig

SPECIAL TO THE PENNYSAVER

BRUNSWICK, Georgia: October 4, 2019 – Pink. Blush. Rose. Magenta. No matter which color of pink you prefer, October is the month to wear it! And that's just what Vincent K. Arlauskas, M.D, will be doing as the Southeast Georgia Health System representative in this year's Brunswick/Golden Isles Komen BigWig campaign.

What is a Komen BigWig? It's a very important person on a mission to end breast cancer forever by raising awareness and funds in their community and who's willing to have fun while wearing a ridiculous pink wig.

"I believe the Komen BigWig mission captures the attention of our entire community," notes Arlauskas, a general surgeon with Southeast Georgia Physician Associates-Glynn General & Vascular Surgery. "Every one of us has been impacted by breast cancer at some level. I have family members and loved ones who are survivors. I also have loved ones who did not survive. The awareness of the 'Komen Pink' is key. I have the privilege as a community servant to further that campaign and bring funds to such a wonderful cause."

A 'Fun-Raiser' to help Arlauskas surpass his $2,500 goal will be held at Marshside Grill on Tuesday, October 29, 5-8 p.m. There will be games, prizes, raffles and more. For more information, call 912-265-5125.

The Brunswick/Golden Isles Komen BigWig campaign engages local corporate and community leaders as representatives in the fight against breast cancer. During the campaign, each BigWig will raise or give a minimum of $2,500, which will be used to ensure access to essential breast health services and education programs, and support research to find the cures for breast cancer. Through this program, 75 percent of funds raised remain in local communities to help fund local breast cancer initiatives.

Since 2011, the Coastal Georgia Affiliate of Susan G. Komen has given more than $465,000 in grant funding to support the Health System's Mammograms In Motion program. The program provides free mammograms and other diagnostic breast health services for uninsured and low income residents in Glynn County and the surrounding communities.

Kicking off its fifth year in Glynn County, the BigWig campaign goal is to raise at least $12,500 to help fund breast cancer patient services and education programs in Coastal Georgia. Throughout the seven-week campaign, Dr. Vincent Arlauskas, Zerik Samples, Rose Dean Andrews, Michelle Johnston and Chris Jordan have each pledged to raise a minimum of $2,500. To contribute to Dr. Arlauskas' campaign, visit coastalgeorgia.info-komen.org/goto/dr_vincent.

Howard Family Dental to host 11th annual Free Day of Dentistry on November 22

Special to the Pennysaver

Savannah, Ga. (9/30/19) – Howard Family Dental will host the company's 11th annual Free Day of Dentistry on Friday, November 22, 2019. Held as a way to kick off the holiday season, over 100 volunteers from Howard Family Dental, Oral & Facial Surgery and Kid's Dentistree will come together to provide the first 250 attendees with their choice of one free service: a cleaning, filling or extraction. The event, which is open to both children and adults, will take place at Howard Family Dental's Pooler office located at 91 Brighton Woods Drive.

Over the last few years, the event has grown to include many community partners. This year, St. Joseph's/Candler Mobile Mammography and the Chatham County Health Department Breast and Cervical Cancer Program (BCCP) will collaborate to provide free mammograms for women who meet eligibility criteria. Women interested in receiving a mammogram are not required to have a primary care doctor. There will also be more information available regarding the Howard Hand in Hand program at St. Joseph's/Candler, which provides support, education and guidance to children and teens with a family member facing a life-threatening disease.

Returning this year, America's Second Harvest of Coastal Georgia will provide food for individuals and families that are suffering from food insecurity. Local Walgreen's pharmacist, Jim Brown, will also be onsite to offer free flu shots and blood pressure checks. Strickland's Funeral Home and Calvary Assembly of God will once again donate their parking lots for attendees, and several local restaurants plan to donate food and refreshments to the volunteers.

"We are proud to offer our 11th annual Free Day of Dentistry right before the Thanksgiving holiday," said Dr. Julie Howard, a dentist at the Midtown location and co-founder/chair of the Howard Family Dental Charitable Foundation. "It is our way to give thanks and appreciation to our community in partnership with other like-minded local businesses who care about breaking down the barriers many people face when it comes to access to care."

Services will be provided on a first come, first served basis. Numbers will be handed out starting at 6:30 a.m. on November 22, with the event officially kicking off at 7 a.m. and ending at 4 p.m. Last year, Howard Family Dental's Free Day of Dentistry served over 180 people and completed an estimated $57,000 worth of services.

For more information and directions, please visit the website at www.howardfamilydental.com or call (912) 629-9000.

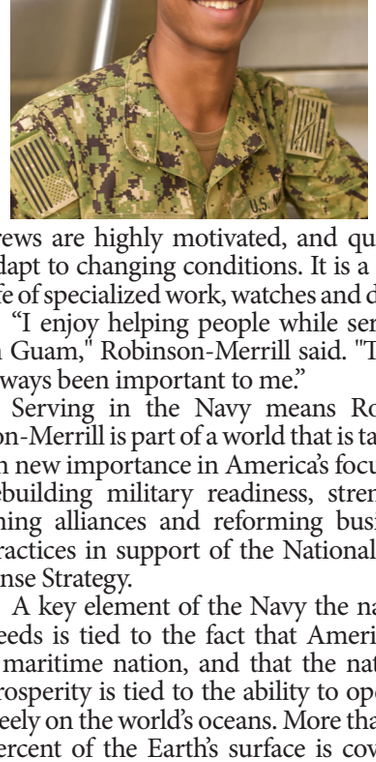
Hinesville native supports Navy's 'Silent Service' half a world away

Special to the Pennysaver



SANTA RITA, Guam – A 2018 Long County High School graduate and Hinesville native is providing a critical maintenance capability to the U.S. Navy's submarine force in the Pacific as part of a hybrid crew of sailors and civilian mariners working aboard the expeditionary submarine tender, USS Frank Cable. Seaman Apprentice Christian Robinson-Merrill is a personnel specialist aboard the Guam-based submarine tender, one of only two such ships in the U.S. Navy. The Frank Cable and its crew provides maintenance and resupply capabilities both in port and at sea.

A Navy personnel specialist is responsible for working in human resources, administrative work and processing paperwork.

Robinson-Merrill credits success in the Navy to many of the lessons learned in Hinesville.

"It's important to have a strong work ethic and dedication," said Robinson-Merrill.

Guam is also home to four Los Angeles-class attack submarines, Frank Cable's primary clients, but the ship can also provide repair and logistic services to other Navy ships like cruisers and destroyers. The submarine tenders provide maintenance, temporary berthing services and logistical support to submarines and surface ships in the Pacific Ocean as well as the Persian Gulf, Red Sea, Arabian Sea, and parts of the Indian Ocean.

With a crew of more than 600, Frank Cable is 649 feet long and weighs approximately 23,493 tons.

According to officials at the U.S. Navy's Pacific Fleet headquarters in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, the ships, submarines, aircraft and Navy personnel forward-deployed to Guam are part of the world's largest fleet command and serve in a region critical to U.S. national security. The U.S. Pacific Fleet encompasses 100 million square miles, nearly half the Earth's surface, from Antarctica to the Arctic Circle and from the West Coast of the United States into the Indian Ocean. All told, there are more than 200 ships and submarines, nearly 1,200 aircraft, and more than 130,000 uniformed and civilian personnel serving in the Pacific.

The integrated crew of sailors and civilian mariners builds a strong fellowship while working alongside each other. The crews are highly motivated, and quickly adapt to changing conditions. It is a busy life of specialized work, watches and drills.

"I enjoy helping people while serving in Guam," Robinson-Merrill said. "That's always been important to me."

Serving in the Navy means Robinson-Merrill is part of a world that is taking on new importance in America's focus on rebuilding military readiness, strengthening alliances and reforming business practices in support of the National Defense Strategy.

A key element of the Navy the nation needs is tied to the fact that America is a maritime nation, and that the nation's prosperity is tied to the ability to operate freely on the world's oceans. More than 70 percent of the Earth's surface is covered by water; 80 percent of the world's population lives close to a coast; and 90 percent of all global trade by volume travels by sea.

"Our priorities center on people, capabilities and processes, and will be achieved by our focus on speed, value, results and partnerships," said Secretary of the Navy Richard V. Spencer. "Readiness, lethality and modernization are the requirements driving these priorities."

Though there are many ways for sailors to earn distinction in their command, community, and career, Robinson-Merrill is most proud of leading a duty section while serving in the Navy.

"I can handle a great deal of responsibility that's above my paygrade," said Robinson-Merrill.

As a member of one of the U.S. Navy's most relied upon assets, Robinson-Merrill and other sailors know they are part of a legacy that will last beyond their lifetimes, one that will provide a critical component of the Navy the nation needs.

"Serving in the Navy is a family tradition for me and I'm proud to continue my family's legacy of service," added Robinson-Merrill.

Visit Savannah Named No. 4 U.S. Small City by Condé Nast Traveler Readers

Special to the Pennysaver

SAVANNAH, Ga. — Condé Nast Traveler yesterday announced the winners of its annual Readers' Choice Awards, ranking the best hotels, resorts, destination spas, countries, cities, islands, trains, airlines, airports, and cruise lines in the world. Savannah once again found itself in the top five of the travel publication's Top U.S. Small Cities, this year taking the No. 4 spot, vying for position with other regional destinations Key West, Florida, and Alexandria, Virginia. The Savannah/Hilton Head International Airport also took top honors as the No. 2 Best Airport in the U.S., and the Westin Savannah Harbor Golf Resort & Spa landed a spot on the list of the Top 20 Resorts in the South.

The Readers' Choice Awards are the longest-running recognition of excellence in the travel industry, and one of the most prestigious.

President of Visit Savannah Joseph Marinelli expressed pride at Savannah's continual inclusion on Condé Nast Traveler's list. "Accolades that are chosen by our visitors, by the folks who love Savannah and continue to travel here for our signature Southern hospitality, coastal cuisine and top-tier cultural experiences and attractions are always the most gratifying."

In its first year as one global brand, Condé Nast Traveler combined the annual surveys in the U.S. and U.K. into one global Readers' Choice Awards list. Collectively, they received a recording-breaking number of responses from more than 600,000 readers who rated their travel experiences to provide a full snapshot of where and how readers are traveling today.

"The way we travel today has changed significantly, and we know that is front and center in people's desires and conversations," said Melinda Stevens, editor-in-chief of Condé Nast Traveler. "As our readers continue to explore, we continue to listen. Our readers' curiosity shapes our inspiration and ultimately our next adventure, and based on this year's list, we'll be making plenty of new discoveries."

The 2019 Top U.S. Small Cities are:

PAW'S CORNER

Dressing Up Pooch for Halloween

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: My 2-year-old pooch "Sookie" and I have been invited to three separate Halloween-themed play dates, plus we are walking in a doggy parade to raise funds for the local shelter. Naturally, costumes are expected at all these events. Problem is, Sookie cannot stand to wear anything heavier than a doggie jumper. What kind of costume would work for this type of dog? -- Geraldine, via email

DEAR GERALDINE: Halloween-themed play dates with costumes are pretty much for the guests' entertainment -- the dogs could care less. They just want to socialize with the other dogs. Wearing a costume that your dog is clearly uncomfortable in is no fun for Sookie. Look for practical costuming ideas that Sookie won't notice. If she is OK with doggie sweaters, how about a sweater with a superhero emblem printed on it? What about a Halloween-themed bandanna, if she's comfortable wearing one? A decorated collar or leash also is fine. If you don't want to design the costume yourself, pet stores stock a range of ready-made costumes, or you can order one online. Or four, if you want her to wear a different outfit to each party. You don't have to go all out, even if the Instagram photos of elaborately costumed pups tempt you to do so. Put Sookie's comfort and safety first. If you really want her to walk into the parties wearing some creative headgear, try it out at home first. If Sookie can wear a tiara or devil horns for a few minutes without discomfort, you can take it off after showing her to the other guests. If she shakes the headgear off, whines or otherwise seems distressed, don't use it. Send your tips, questions or comments to ask@pawscorner.com.
